

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI
DI BERGAMO

Dipartimento
di Scienze Umane
e Sociali

5 November 2025
9.00am - 6.30pm

Geopolitics of the Early Modern Age

Global lines of a connected world

Sala Castoldi
P.le di S. Agostino
Bergamo

9.00am	Introduction Sergio Cavalieri , Rector of the University of Bergamo Elena dell’Agnese , President of the Associazione dei Geografi Italiani Alessandra Ghisalberti , Dean of the PhD “Landscape Studies for Global and Local Challenges” of the University of Bergamo Giuseppe Scaratti , Dean of Dept. of Human and Social Sciences of the University of Bergamo SESSION I Chair: Arturo Gallia , University of RomaTre
9.30-10.30	Making an Idea of Global Space in the Early XVI Century Luis Lobo-Guerrero , University of Groningen
10.30-11.30	Global lines, global Earth, and the science behind it Henrique Leitão , University of Lisbon
11.30-12.00	Coffee break
12.00-1.00pm	Global Lines and Maps: Representing Early Modern Globalization Alessandro Ricci , University of Bergamo
1.00-2.00pm	Light lunch SESSION II Chair: Federica Burini , University of Bergamo
2.00-3.00	Lines of top of the world. Connecting the Arctic Djoeke van Netten , University of Amsterdam
3.00-4.00	Mapping Power and Meaning: Symbolic Representations in Early Modern Adriatic Nautical Charts Lena Mirošević , University of Zadar
4.00-4.30	Coffee break
4.30-5.30	Lines, Points, Islands: Rethinking Connectivity and the Construction of Colonial Spaces in Early Modernity Angelo Cattaneo , Consiglio Nazionale delle Ricerche
5.30-6.30	Debate with PhD Students Conclusions